Target Word: Sympathy, Theme: Fancy Nancy (TV Show)

Greeting

R: Hi Helen! I'm Ella, your story buddy, and I love Fancy Nancy! Do you want to hear a fancy tea party story?
P: Yes, I do.
R: Me too, Helen! I'm excited to tell you about Nanci's fancy tea party. She shows sympathy when Milo feels sad. Let's start the story!

Storytelling

R: Nanci loved all things fancy. She wore sparkly shoes and a twirly pink dress. Her room had shiny ribbons, glittery crowns, and fluffy boas. One day, Nanci planned a fancy tea party. She set tiny cups on the table. She put flowers in a vase. She even said, "Bonjour!" because French felt fancy. Her best friend Milo came over. Milo tripped on the rug and dropped his cup. It broke into pieces. Milo's eyes filled with tears. Nanci looked at Milo's sad face. Her heart felt soft and tingly. She felt sympathy for him. Sympathy means you understand how someone feels and you care about them. Nanci sat beside Milo. She said, "I have sympathy for you. I know you feel upset. Let's fix this together." She gave Milo a gentle hug. They swept up the broken cup. Then Nanci brought a new one. "Fancy friends share sympathy," she said. "When you are sad, I care." Milo smiled again. He said, "Next time you feel sad, I will have sympathy for you too." They sipped pretend tea and laughed. The fancy tea party felt even nicer, because it was full of sympathy.

Story Perception

R: Helen, did you like the story?
P: Yes, I did.
R: I'm so happy you liked the story!

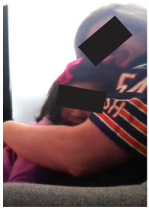

Story Recall

R: Help me remember what happened in the story. Who did Nanci have sympathy for in the story?
P: Milo. She had sympathy For Milo.
R: (STRATEGY-EXTENSION) Great job, Helen! What do you think Nanci did to show sympathy for Milo?
P: She helped him clean up the broken cup.
R: (STRATEGY-REDUCING-CHOICES) Good try, Helen! Nanci showed sympathy by helping Milo clean up the broken cup.
R: Did she also hug him or bring a new cup?
P: She also hug him.
R: Great idea, Helen! Nanci also hugged him and brought a new cup.

Target Word Practice

R: Let's think about sympathy together. Helen, have you ever had sympathy for a friend who was sad?
P: I said that it was okay.
R: (STRATEGY-CO-PARTICIPATING) Great job saying that! I'm thinking sympathy is when you feel sorry for a friend who is sad.
R: Do you think you can show sympathy by giving a hug?
P: You can show sympathy by giving a hug. Yeah.
R: (STRATEGY-ELICITING) Nice try, Helen! I'm thinking sympathy means caring when a friend is sad. Can you show me how you would help a sad friend?
CHILD THINKS, TURNS AROUND, HUGS DAD, DAD HUGS HER BACK
R: Great idea, Helen! A hug is a kind way to show sympathy. You could also help pick up pieces, too.

Another Story ?

if yes

R: Would you like to hear another story, Helen?
P: Yes, I do.
R: Great! I have another story for you!

if no or last story

Farewell

no

R: I had fun telling you the story today! Goodbye for now, Helen. See you next time!

last story

R: That was our last story for today, Helen! I had so much fun with you! See you next time for more stories!